Birat Medical College, Biratnagar

Birat Medical College (BMC) is the most recent addition to Nepal's medical school system. Founded in 2014 as a continuation of Kathmandu University, BMC is preparing for its fifth round of admissions. Every year, BMC welcomes 100 students from both national and international backgrounds who come with a singular goal: to pursue their lifelong passions.

The organization at Kathmandu University has a dedicated campus with specialized health professionals who are committed to enhancing workforce development and providing ongoing education. Covering 22 bigha of land, this facility includes modern academic and research resources such as well-equipped laboratories, dissection halls, museums with numerous specimens, and a library.

It aims to enhance healthcare in Eastern Nepal and globally through high-quality leadership in education, clinical care, research, and service. Being situated in South-east Nepal will enhance the experience for students from North Bihar. Additionally, Biratnagar provides numerous thrilling chances to gain insight into health and disease treatment on a global and international scale. Several educational and extracurricular initiatives are currently being implemented to enhance learning in this field.
